

The Pastor's Voice: "Blessed Past, Bold Future"

Dear Friends,

It is hard to believe that the time has come for me to write my final Pastor's Voice article. There is so much I want to say on this page that I don't know where to begin. I have never done well with good-byes. I can assure you that November 11 will be an emotional day for me as well as my family, who will be with us that day.

For several months I have used the theme "Blessed Past, Bold Future" for these articles. I think this is an appropriate message for this month's epistle. This is a time for us to remember, but also to look with anticipation of what the future holds for St. John's.

Since I announced my resignation, I have taken time to reflect on my ministry with you. It has been a blessing from God to serve you and to work with you in the ministry that God has called us to do in this community and beyond. We have done some extraordinary work in reaching out to our community. We have supported a variety of mission projects and formed a relationship with a church in Namibia. We have enjoyed potluck suppers and lunches with the pastor. We have comforted and supported one another. We have tried new things in our worship services, which has enriched our spiritual lives. This is a small list of the things we have done over the past eight years. We did them together! It wasn't just the pastor...it was all of you!

I hope on November 11 we can celebrate what we have done in ministry together over the past eight years. However, I also hope St. John's will be open to the Holy Spirit as you begin a time of transition. The Consistory will need your prayerful support as they search for an interim pastor. All of you will need to be supportive of that interim pastor. They will challenge you in many ways and I hope you will be receptive to their work with you.

As I leave you, I recognize several challenges that you face as a congregation. Let me share with you the top three that are on my mind:

First, St. John's is in need of younger people who will lead the congregation now and into the future. Our educational ministry is stagnant right now. There are very few children & youth who come to the Sunday morning activities. I've been very discouraged to see this happening and I take it personally at times. What can you do to turn this around?

The second challenge is stewardship, which has been a challenge for years. We must connect our spiritual lives with our financial giving. For several years now we have depended on fundraisers in order to meet our budget. I must be honest with you that this is a sign of a dying church. In order for St. John's to have a bold & vital future, the congregation must stop relying on those fundraisers. We can't burn ourselves out with these fundraisers. We also can't expect people in the community to pay our bills.

The third challenge is to define our purpose as a congregation in 2013. How will St. John's spread the gospel in 2013 and beyond? Will you be committed to the work that God is calling you to do now and in the years to come? These are critical questions for you to discuss at this time.

It has been a blessed past! I am truly grateful that St. John's was my first church. I have learned a lot over the past eight years and I know I will carry that with me to East Petersburg and wherever God calls me to serve. I truly want St. John's to have a bold & vital future. This is why I felt it was time for me to get out of the way and allow someone with specific skills to work with you in responding to these challenges.

As we go forward, may we share the love of God, the peace of Christ and the powerful presence of the Holy Spirit. As we go forward with our respective ministries, I hope we will all be open to the nudging of the Holy Spirit at this exciting time! As we have enjoyed a blessed past, I pray for a bold future!

Blessings,

Pastor Chris

Some familiar words as my benediction to you.

God be with you till we meet again;
By good counsel guide,
uphold you,
With a shepherd's care
enfold you:
God be with you till we meet again.
Till we meet, till we meet,
Till we meet at Jesus' feet;
Till we meet, till we meet,
God be with you will we meet again.

Consistory News

By Robin Getz

As everyone is aware there is much going on at St. John's. If the Consistory is doing a good job, then each of you should not notice or feel too much of the changes that are happening.

We are currently in process of retaining an interim pastor to help us through the transition of Pastor Chris' departure and the hiring of a new pastor. This will be a challenge for us since there are not that many interims available. Dr. Thom Webster of the Penn Central Conference visited with us to give us the basics of what we have to look forward to and we were given the news that the average tenure of a pastor at any church these days is five years. So we were lucky that we had Pastor Chris longer than most. I guess the thought of a 25-year pastor is a thing of the past.

This month will be the annual congregational meeting which is when we will consider adopting our 2013 budget and add new people to Consistory who will continue their efforts for the benefit of our church. This meeting will be held after worship on November 25.

Another thing that we have been working diligently to accomplish is securing a permanent cleaning service. We are extremely thankful for all of those who have volunteered in keeping our church presentable with all of your hard efforts.

We also continue getting the basement completed. We have come a long way by finishing two classrooms and the nursery but we also believe it is time to spruce up the bathrooms and finish the common areas as well.

We have also began considering a more usable sign for our church, which may eliminate the need for the sandwich signs we have been using when announcing upcoming events. The optimal sign would have lighting as well and would be easily readable when driving up and down Main Street. We are also moving to have an AED station located in the social hall. In today's time it is important to be ready when a health crisis strikes.

Finally, we continue to rely on our neighbors (Bell & Evans) who have generously offered to light our parking area for the safety of our members and their workers as well. Hopefully we will see those changes in the very near future.

So you see there is much happening here in our little church, but I will also remind you that we are only as good as we can be because of you. You will remain our vision and I offer blessings to each of you who serve as our beacon of vision as we continue the work of the church!

Pastoral Coverage

The Consistory is working with Rev. Dr. Thom Webster from Penn Central Conference to secure an interim pastor. Please keep them in your prayers. In the meantime, Pastor Herb Hibshman and Pastor Andrew Wilson will cover pastoral emergencies from November 16-30. The Consistory will keep the congregation informed as the process unfolds. They will need your prayerful support and your willingness to help in this time of transition. You can reach Pastor Hibshman at 866-5390 and Rev. Wilson at 933-5571.

Rita Christ, a member of the JOY Pantry of Jonestown, enlightened us on the many facets of this important mission. She thanked us for our regular giving and invited us to join in the volunteer program.

A new slate of officers for the coming year was elected. Those names to the posts were Peggy Mohn, president, Priscilla Rentschler, vice-president, Ginny Knapp, secretary, and Robin Gingrich, treasurer. Robin Gingrich will be getting the necessary information for the sale of the Christmas poinsettias.

Mother nature gave us a splendid day to enjoy our Fall Frolic at Pat & Earl Ziegler's farm on Sunday. We could not have planned a better day for this activity. Hot dogs, pork BBQ and whoopie pies all added to the perfection of the day.

Our next venture will be Christmas caroling for our shut-in's. A time and more details, will follow at a later date.

Plan now to attend our "Birthday Social" on Saturday, February 23, 2013. A few tables are still available. Please note; you do "not" need to sit at your birth month table. Hostesses for the tables will seat you wherever you want to be. Julie Ditzler and Wendy Dorsey are planning the program. It should be a riot!

Our Celebration with Pastor Chris

We are hoping to make our final Sunday with Pastor Chris as our minister, a time of celebration and thanks. On Sunday, November 11th, our plans begin with a potluck dinner after our worship service. There are sign-up sheets on the bulletin board for both attending the dinner, and for providing a dish or dessert. Any questions about the potluck should be directed to Peggy Mohn.

After the dinner, we are planning a program to remember the ministry we've shared together during the past eight years. If you have a favorite story or pictures or any other kind of memorabilia to include as part of this program, please speak to Julie Ditzler or Louise Walmer.

We have invited area ministers and other friends of our congregation to join us for this special occasion. Please plan to attend and be part of this special day in the life of our church family!

FROM THE CHRISTIAN ED. CORNER by Angela Michael

Thanks to Melissa Seltzer for organizing the youth and family trip to the Risser Marvel Corn Maze on October 27.

As we look ahead the Christian Education Committee has a new and/or returning items on the agenda that you can look forward to as the holiday season ramps up. Many of you know that the annual nut sale is in progress--we did the sale slightly differently this year. The pre-orders for the nuts are in and by the time you read this the nuts may have already arrived. The pre-orders will be delivered and the remaining nuts will be for sale following worship as they have been in the past. These supplies may be limited and will be on a first come, first serve basis.

Secondly as we get ready to celebrate the birth of our Savior this advent season, I want to share with you a preview of the intergenerational advent workshop and project. Advent will kick off December 2 with an intergenerational workshop during Christian Connection in which we'll learn about the Prince of Peace and how to fold paper cranes.

There is a tradition in which the folding or collecting of 1,000 paper cranes insures the fulfillment of a wish. Many years ago a young Japanese girl named Sadako, who suffered from leukemia that many thought was the result of the after effects of the atomic bombs that were dropped on Japan during World War II when she was two years old, folded 1,000 paper cranes. Sadako's wish was that she wanted to live. Unfortunately, she died when she was only 16 years old, and, in her memory, her friends and classmates continued folding paper cranes. Theirs was a prayer, and it was a prayer for peace. Today many people around the world fold cranes for Sadako and for peace. This year throughout the month of December St. John's will be folding paper cranes--we have set a goal of 500 cranes.

This will be a church wide effort, and I hope you all will support this project and help us reach our goal of 500 paper cranes. Throughout December the cranes will grace our sanctuary as they are folded and strung into garlands.

During January all of our cranes will be on display at the Matthews Public Library in Fredericksburg. I encourage you to speak to me or to a committee member if you have any questions or if you would like to learn how to fold a paper crane. We'll be folding them during Circle Time!, Christian Connection (on December 2), and we'll be available before and after church to teach interested members to how to fold a crane.

Gospel Singers at Cedar Haven by Regina Engler

Just like Santa Claus, the Easter Bunny and your birthday, there's a special event that happens just once each year and YOU may be a part of it. It's that time of the year to bring pre-holiday cheer to the residents at Cedar Haven. We've been told that it's the favorite program of the year for them.

As in former years, a group of singers will take to the stage with gospel hymns, accompanied on guitar by our friend, Howard Lee. While that is going on, some volunteers will be preparing to serve refreshments & others will be visiting each floor to drop off a gift box of Kleenex for each of the residents.

This year's event is schedule for Tuesday, November 13, 2012 at 7pm. The rehearsal for the singers will be held on Monday, November 12 at 7pm at UCC.

Those who have helped in the past have witnessed the joy on the faces of these men & women who call Cedar Haven their "home". They often help to sing along while they enjoy the soft cookies and finger jello provided by our congregation.

Please consider this a "personal invitation" from St. John's Fellowship to do one or more of the following:

>Help sing, Bake some soft cookies, or Make a batch finger jello

You could bring the cookies and/or jello with you to church when you attend the rehearsal on November 12th. Sounds like a plan?

From Robin's Nest to Yours

By: Robin L. Getz

Here we are entering November and by the looks of things, the weather certainly will support and confirm that it is in fact that time of the year. November is always associated primarily with Thanksgiving. In 2008 when I first began writing these articles I touched on this season by encouraging everyone to get involved with their church and give all that they have to offer where their time and talents were concerned. To challenge your won individual limits and find ways to go beyond your comfort level. There are so many things that can fall in this category and money has nothing to do with it.

This time around it will be no different. We will be searching for an interim pastor to lead us on the quest at securing a full time pastor. We are very fortunate to have many clergy as members and by association to this congregation that have offered their time and talents. We have very many gifted lay members who will also give when called upon. As you recall when we honored Michelle for her seven years of service with us I referenced the beautiful banner that now adorns our sanctuary and noted how each week we have noticed changes, just as we do with our seasons outside, the green leaves are falling and the foliage colors changing. I commented at that time that the only constant we will have in life is change, but that we will always have the memories of those who have touched our lives and become part of our St. John's family. The change of replacing those who have been called to other things will always happen and we will always need to repeat exactly where we are at right now, but those that have been called away will always remain tucked away in a portion of our hearts.

I am sure that we have all noticed that as more of our youth continue their educational paths at college and we find less youth filling their shoes times have become critical for our small church. There are always concerns when we move forward with new things, new approaches and new people. We will always have worries that we will lose the ability to seek or mend our spiritual life without having the security of consistency. We will always worry whether or not our future is as bright as it once had been, but then we must always put those challenges in God's hands in many cases. Just as we find in many of the books of the Bible, both God and his son Jesus have challenged us to let go of the things that have little or no value and follow Him.

This past week some of us (where I work) were talking randomly in general while we were eating lunch. We eventually got onto the subject of how expensive things are and how we remember when there was a time when mothers stayed home as one income per household was enough. We talked about how the staples of our early memories were bread and potatoes whatever meat we raised and butchered or hunted and killed were brought to the table to feed many. As a youngster there was never any thought of what it cost, or what it took to get it there, you were just thankful that you had a hot meal to eat that would sustain you for many hours to come. As the youngest sitting at the table it was very rare that I finished eating (I was always the poky one) and had dibs at seconds. Mom always knew just how much to make with very little waste. It was funny to learn that this was something the 50 and over crowd experienced, but the younger members sitting at the lunch table did not. Some are always fascinated by the stories we recall during those times, just as I had been when the older members of my family recalled walking to school in 6' of snow for 5 miles uphill. We also talked about how hard it was when we married and moved on our own and began our own families and what sacrifices we needed to make to be good providers. We never noticed the lines of worry on our parents or grandparents faces because for us life was good. We did our chores, and played with our friends and just went along in life carefree Thankful that we were able to enjoy what life had to offer. We had our parents, our health, friends and just days of joy that it just didn't get any better. The worst thing that faced us was having to get up early every day and go to school. How very simple our life was then.

Later in the evening I remember thinking of that conversation and then remembering Mark 10:17-24 where Jesus spoke with a man who asked for eternal life. Jesus asked him to sell all of his worldly possessions and then to follow Him. The man could not part with his great wealth. This made me think of that conversation of how there was a time when mothers stayed at home. Has our world become so chaotic that we cannot live with the necessities but we need to have so much more? Have we lost sight of being Thankful for what God has offered to us that as long as our hearts are pure and we have given all that we can give, we too will have life eternal?

So as we start a new page in our Christian life here at St. John's, as we pray for the guidance we will need in searching for a new pastor, let us all remove from our thoughts those things that are not important and focus on what is. Remember that our life will have the constant of change and the realization of permanence by believing that God will grant us eternal life as long as we make the right choices. And most important to truly be Thankful for all of the wonderful blessings that we have received.

May I extend to each of you and your families my wish for Christian Love and peace and a wonderful Thanksgiving season.

St. John's United Church of Christ is: A church of faith, heeding to God's call, through worship, evangelism, discipleship and fellowship. We are building on our church's history, while looking to our future. Our church is filled with messengers, who share the gift of God's love, with the community and beyond. We strive to be a church that reaches out to all with compassion, a vision of God's everlasting peace, and a witness of spiritual hope to our present and future generations. For all this and so much more, we pray in God's name.
